

Biographical Sketch

Bryan Cobo Torres

Current Status

Junior Undergraduate Student
Department of Biology, UPR-RP

Email: bryan.cobo@upr.edu

Education

2014 – present UPR-Río Piedras
2018 B.S. Cellular Molecular Biology (expected)

Research Interests

Take advantage of the broad set of skills I've acquired while doing research, along with my rigorous academic background in biological sciences, to pursue an M.D./PhD. Degree. I also wish to develop a successful career related to biomedical, clinical, and scientific research, to aid and comprehend relevant issues to the scientific community and find the answers to questions that will help the future health and wellbeing of humanity.

Research Experience

October 2014 – May 2016 UPR-Medical Sciences Campus, Microbiology and Medical Zoology, mentor: Adelfa E. Serrano, Ph.D.

June 2016 – August 2016 Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowship (SURF) Program at UT Southwestern Medical Center, Dallas TX, mentor: Nicholas Conrad, Ph.D. (Molecular Microbiology)

August 2016 – present Molecular Sciences Research Center, University of Puerto Rico, mentor: José A. Lasalde, Ph.D.

Honors

2014 – present Dean's List
2015 – May 2016 Research Initiative for Scientific Enhancement (RISE) program fellow
August 2016 – present Maximizing Access to Research Careers (MARC) program fellow