

Biographical Sketch

Xavier Stanton Bittman Soto

Current Status

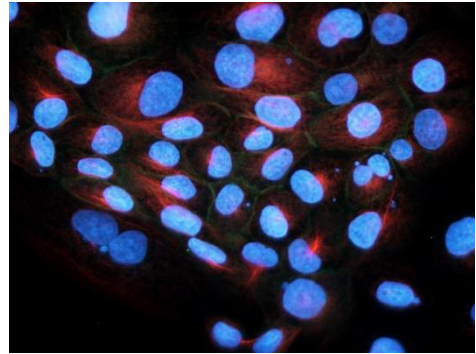

PhD Candidate

Dept. of Biology, UPR-Rio Piedras

Email: xavier.bittman@upr.edu

Education

2008-2013	BS Biology/Biomedical Science
2016-present	UPR-Rio Piedras
2022	PhD Biology (expected)

Current Research Interest: My research is focused on the role of a splice variant Estrogen Receptor (ERalpha36) associated with the aggressive phenotype expressed in Inflammatory Breast Cancer (IBC).

Research Experience:

2012-2013	UPR-Aguadilla, Undergraduate student (mentor, Dr. José A. Cardé)
2016-2017	UPR-Aguadilla, Undergraduate student (mentor, Dr. José M. Planas)
2016-present	UPR-Rio Piedras, Graduate Student (mentor, Dra. Esther A. Peterson)

Other Research activities:

2019	UCSC Genome Browser Workshop
2019	Models and Modeling: Frameworks and language for integrating data science skills into science course workshop
2019	Research Initiative for Scientific Enhancement (RISE) Fellowship

Honors:

2009	UPR-Aguadilla, College Athletic Scholarship
2013	UPR-Aguadilla, Cum Laude

Presentations at Local Meetings:

N/A

Presentations at National Meetings

N/A

Publications

N/A